CARMEN SUITE

The impetuous Carmen seduces Don José to convince him to let her out of prison. Once freed, she finds herself trapped in a love triangle: she lusts after the famous toreador Escamillo but cannot get rid of Don José.

PETRUSHKA

Scene I: During a traditional festival in St. Petersburg, the crowd is astonished by a Magician who plays the flute and gives life to his puppets Petrushka, the Ballerina and the Moor.

Scene II: After the show, the puppets return to the small theater. Petrushka is conscious of his loneliness and ugly appearance. He seeks consolation in his love for the Ballerina but she rejects him.

Scene III: The Ballerina is attracted to the Moor and dances to seduce him. Mad with jealousy, Petrushka tries to attack his rival but the Moor loses his temper and chases him.

Scene IV: It is the evening and the festival is in full swing. The Moor chases Petrushka and kills him. While the Magician tries to reassure the scattering crowd, Petrushka's ghost appears above the theater.
